

PETER TOBIA / Inquirer Staff Photographer

Even the Clothespin needs a cleaning from time to time. Scrubbing yesterday was William Concannon, while Larry Newbern operated the cherry picker. Workers with Kreilick Conservation spent two days at 15th and Market Streets, washing the 45-foot-tall work by Claes Oldenburg. The sculpture, made of Cor-Ten and stainless steel, was installed in 1976.