

HOBART STATUE GETS A FACELIFT

Warren Westura/Special to the Herald News
Scott Krellick and John Klinkose, top, open the tenting around the statue of Garret Hobart outside Paterson City Hall. They will clean the statue's surface by "walnutblasting" it, using ground walnut shells, above left, instead of sand because the shells are less abrasive to bronze. Klunkose, right, puts on a protective suit and mask.
